President's Post

Dear Members,

It is amazing how much information we have today but how hard it is to find it in one easily accessible place, and then have some way of vetting it. Our Board Member, Bob Evans, has been working to list available resources for seniors in The Woodlands area. We posted this information on our website as a quick reference guide. The organizations are not vetted by us as we do not have the volunteers to do that work (not yet anyway). See Community Resources on our home page at <http://aiptw.org>

Maybe the best thing we can do to help one another with local resources, is to submit our positive experiences with local companies to AIP (aiptwtx@gmail.com). Margo will post the information in the Members Only Community Resources section of the website. That way we can quickly learn who has provided good services to fellow members. Let's not turn this section into a complaints or venting section. I think there is enough of that in the Nextdoor App. 😊

Transportation and monthly socials continue to be the main services requested by our members. To keep our transportation working smoothly, we do need to attract more volunteers to manage the calls and the rides. Erika and Pat Goodpastor are very experienced with these systems and processes and will gladly give volunteers individual coaching on how this simple service operates.

- To be a Call Manager, all that's need is to be able answer calls, enter requests and responses into our system, and provide information as needed.
- To be a driver, all that's needed is a safe car, a solid driving record and time to do the rides. I usually split the rides with my husband. I do one way and he does the return journey. That gives me more time in my day and the one-way trip is manageable for me.

Every member can play an important role in helping our organization. Please give volunteering some thought. You may also have friends and family who could be open to volunteering. Help us spread the word.

Enjoy this Spring weather, which reminds me somewhat of New Zealand – four seasons in one week.

Best wishes
Robyn

In 'Do Me a Favor' Scams, a Criminal Pretends to Be Your Pal (From AARP)

This increasingly common scam involves impostors claiming to be friends who need help buying gift cards. Aging In Place got a first-hand look at this scam as Call Manager, Margo explains.

“As Call Manager on Apr 13, when I got the first email below, I wanted to help our member as that’s what we do. But when I got the response, I knew it was a scam that I had read about. And I was sure our member wouldn’t ask for a favor in such a strange way. I alerted other people I knew corresponded with her so they could be wary of any messages from her.”

From AARP: How to avoid this scam

Don't trust. Verify the sender's email address. If you receive a request for a favor from a faith leader, Harris suggests calling your house of worship to either verify that the request is legitimate or make officials aware of the scam so they can warn other members not to respond.

Be careful with social media. Make sure your privacy settings on Facebook and other platforms allow only people in your network to see your content. Otherwise, criminals can find out who your family members and friends are, as well as personal information that will help them perpetrate their scam.

Beware of anyone asking you to buy gift cards. "One hundred percent assume that no one is ever going to ask you to buy them gift cards via text or email," Amy Nofziger says. "If anyone needs a favor from you, they need to pick up the phone and call you."
